ROAD HEAD DENIES WAGE 'SCALE' SET TO HELP WHITLEY

Wilburn Testifies That
All Contractors Knew
They Did Not Have to Pay NRA Wages; U. S.
Makes Counter Claim.

ARGUMENT STAGE IN SUIT IS NEARED

All Evidence Presented in Hearing on Government's Effort To Bar
Payment of Less 40c.

After a long series of charges and counter charges, presentation of evidence in the federal government's suit to enjoin John E. Whitley from paying less than NRA wages on two state highway jobs which Whitley has already secured, was completed today in the federal court at Atlanta. The case, which is being heard by Circuit Judge Samuel H. Sibley, is the first of a series of cases which will be heard in the federal court at Atlanta in the next few days. The case involves the payment of less than 40 cents per hour to workers on state highway jobs. The government is claiming that the "scale" was fixed for Whitley's benefit while the highway board's testimony through Chairman W. Eugene Wilburn tending to show that all contractors knew they did not have to pay NRA wages on state jobs is being presented. The court also had before it an affidavit by Whitley, who heads the Whitley Construction Company, in which he claims that the government's affidavits were obtained under "duress" and under promises of federal agents that the government would not force Whitley to pay the NRA scale in the future but also would collect "back pay" for those who had been paid less than the NRA minimum, charges which were promptly denied by the government in counter affidavits.

Affidavits Offered.
It also had before it affidavits from some of Whitley's former employees that they worked as many as 18 hours a day for as little as 15 and 30 cents an hour, affidavits presented by Whitley that the government's affidavits were obtained under "duress" and under promises of federal agents that the government would not force Whitley to pay the NRA scale in the future but also would collect "back pay" for those who had been paid less than the NRA minimum, charges which were promptly denied by the government in counter affidavits.

Sibley Suggests Dismissal.
Trial of the case on its merits proceeded at Whitley's request after Judge Sibley once suggested that it be dismissed because it is "moot" in that the jobs on which the government seeks to prevent Whitley from paying less than the NRA scale are just about completed and the government has given up his contracts and the work is being finished by the highway department itself.

Another time when Judge Sibley refused to postpone action in order to allow the government to get substitute affidavits to conform with federal court procedure a delay was asserted when the accused contractor continued in Page 2, Column 4.

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long's determined legislative supporters, after enduring a resolution calling for a sweeping investigation of Louisiana's New Orleans political enemies, massed effort tonight to pass by sunrise tomorrow bills his opponents contend will give the boss of Louisiana government "more power than one man should have" and which they argued boded "no good for the state."

Voting final approval of a legislative inquiry into New Orleans municipal and parish offices of the old regular city political organization now at grips with Long's state machine, the senate cleared the way through suspension of rules for final consideration of the Long bills at a post-midnight meeting.

Lotteries Defended.
Denouncing what he said were many lotteries in New Orleans that "look like a lot of hungry mouths," Long ran into opposition on the lottery bill from Senator R. A. Wingrave, one of the New Orleans supporters.

HITLER DEMANDS UNBROKEN FRONT IN NAZI GERMANY

Chancellor Admits Economic Situation Is Bad
But Says Unity Is Needed To Meet Crisis.

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler pleaded earnestly with all Germany tonight to approve his succession to the powers of Reich president von Hindenburg, an action he asserted was made necessary by foreign hostility toward Germany and economic distress at home.

He made no effort to cover up the present economic difficulties of the Reich, but on the other hand referred to them as conditions calling for a strong central government.

The chancellor declared that he would have preferred to appeal to the people first and then carried out their decision, but that the leadership which would have intervened would have proved costly to Germany.

Confusion Wanted.
Hitler referred to the possibility that some foreign circles which predicted trouble after the death of von Hindenburg cherished the thought that there would be confusion "here and abroad," and the already existing "international uncertainties" would be added to by new intrigues.

His address in this hard-hit seaport was the climax of a whirlwind campaign which will culminate Sunday in the plebiscite on one question—whether the Germans sanction Hitler's assumption of presidential powers.

The vigor of the campaign—its hundreds of speeches by lesser Nazis, testimonials by leaders in every sphere of activity and slogans and appeals to every possible medium—and the quiet and small hall Hitler gave the appeal which is regarded as his frankest and most straightforward since he became chancellor.

Not with the usual Nazi fanfare of music and lights and marching men and huge crowds, but in a comparatively quiet and small hall Hitler gave the appeal which is regarded as his frankest and most straightforward since he became chancellor.

Foremost Enigmatic.
His forecast of the future was somewhat enigmatic.

While I do not want to forestall in the future a definite form of constitution for the Reich," he said, "I believe I shall succeed in adding in the future a new honor to the title of German chancellor."

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Mayors of the first congressional district this afternoon passed unanimous resolutions inviting drouth-stricken farmers in the middle west to move down here to "God's country," where there is plenty of water, plenty of the finest land in the world and a warm welcome from all the people.

The resolutions were passed at the afternoon session of the one-day meeting of the mayors, called by Mayor Thomas Gamble, of Savannah, for the purpose of allying with the Georgia Mayors' Association in a concerted effort to help the drouth-stricken farmers of the middle west to settle in Georgia.

Infantile Paralysis Vaccine Proves Effective in Tests

Professor at Temple University Reports Successful Serum Obtained From Monkeys' Spinal Cords.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A victorious and to scientists' hundred-year search for a method to prevent infantile paralysis was claimed today by Dr. John A. Kolmer, quiet and unassuming Temple University professor and medical research director.

After three years of effort, inspired by several epidemics of the disease, Doctor Kolmer said he had perfected a successful vaccine against the dread infection.

Stressing that the vaccine is entirely a preventive measure and in no way a "cure" for paralysis after infection sets in, the professor said he demonstrated the effectiveness of the fluid in experiments with monkeys and finally with injections into his own body and that of his technical assistant, Miss Anna M. Rule, of Halifax, Nova Scotia.

As an indication of his confidence in the discovery, he declared his intention to vaccinate his two teen-age children.

The vaccine is prepared from the spinal cords of monkeys. Dr. Kolmer explained, much as Pasteur developed his preventative for hydrophobia, or rabies.

Declaring it could be made available for general use without delay and at low cost—probably $2 or $3—the physician predicted it would soon be requested by parents as pre-school vaccination against other diseases is now.

The vaccine, treated with sodium ricinoleate, a chemical substance from castor bean oil, completely kills the paralysis virus but, changes it enough to make the fluid safe for injection into monkeys and humans, Dr. Kolmer stated.

It is injected under the skin, like typhoid, diphtheria and rabies vaccines, in doses ranging from one-half to three cubic centimeters. Three doses at weekly intervals are considered sufficient for immunization.

To be effective in preventing paralysis, Dr. Kolmer said, the vaccine must be injected six weeks before the germs attacked the body.

Once administered, however, he expressed confidence it would make the subject of vaccination immune for life. Hundreds of persons offered themselves as "test tubes" for experiments with the vaccine, but Dr. Kolmer chose his own body for the first try-out of what he believes a solution to the puzzle infantile paralysis has presented to science since its first appearance about 1830.

He and Miss Rule, he said, took the first injections "with some fear but there were no reactions except slight soreness at the sites of injection and the results were completely successful."

For two years they worked with monkeys, first infecting the animals by injecting paralytic germs into their brains under ether anesthesia, then removing their spinal cords when the disease brought death. From these cords they obtained the vaccine, one monkey supplying enough for vaccination of about 50 children the next day.

KIDNAPED BREWER RELEASED UNHURT; PAYMENT IN DOUBT

Youth Is Arrested Accused of Attempting To Extort Money; Stories
on Ransom Differ.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The brains of Canada's police force, directing the hunt for the abductees of John S. Labatt, released today by the Dominion's first ransom-seeking kidnappers, tonight effected the arrest of a young man giving the name of Edward Chard, who was charged with attempted theft and extortion in connection with telephone calls to Hugh Labatt, brother of the victim.

Several calls were put through to Labatt in his hotel suite from which he was personally directing his search for his brother Wednesday night and Tuesday morning.

The caller told Labatt to go to the Humber bridge and hand over $5,000 as ransom in connection with the kidnapping of his brother. A young man was seen at the eastern end of the bridge at 2:30 a. m. Thursday, the time appointed for the rendezvous, but drove away in a roadster.

Clue Concealed.
Police did not disclose immediately just what clue led to the arrest of the man.

Meanwhile, John Labatt was safe among relatives, restored from a 65-hour captivity under strange circumstances which brought an official complaint of "lack of co-operation" with the authorities.

Whether or not any ransom was paid was the subject of conflicting statements.

One source described as authoritative said the London, Ont., brewer was freed without payment of any part of the $150,000 demanded by the note left in his abandoned automobile Tuesday.

In Hamilton, Ont., a statement was made that "less than $50,000" was paid before Labatt, blindfolded with adhesive tape, was put out of an automobile in the outskirts of Toronto between midnight and 1 a. m. today.

Official Statement.
The formal official statement on the case, made by Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck, of Ontario, had this to say on the subject of ransom: "This office has no knowledge as to what financial arrangement if any, were made with the criminals."

Whatever arrangements were made, neither Hugh Labatt (brother of the kidnapped man) nor his solicitor, Mr. Ivey, of London, had any hand in their making.

While complaining that "owing to the exclusion of the police from the transaction in its closing hours there is very little on which investigators can build the attorney general said the authorities are going forward with their work on the case.

Labatt was questioned at the home of his brother, Hugh, in London, to which he went immediately after his dramatic appearance at the Royal York hotel here.

Royal Japanese Pair 'Just Folks' to F.D.R.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—An imperial couple from Japan found the White House today very cozy but the president's hospitality was equal to the occasion.

Because the formal reception rooms have become places of business while the executive office is being remodeled, Mr. Roosevelt invited Prince and Princess Kaya to the second floor—to have tea in the intimate family quarters.

They were the first visitors from abroad so honored.

The prince and princess, fresh from New York vista-viewing, arrived in the capital last night to a station welcome from their countrymen.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE SOON TO DISCLOSE PROGRAM ON VETS

No Radical Change in Policy Expected To Be Revealed in October Address.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt plans to tell the nation's war veterans in a speech in October just what he proposes to do for them.

The occasion will be the dedication of a new $2,000,000 veterans' hospital for mental cases at Ronoke, Virginia.

Reliable sources indicated no drastic change in policy would be announced, but that the president would sum up the present government program for the ex-service men and outline future plans to assure the veterans the administration is their friend.

Political Import Denied.
It was denied in quarters close to the White House that the speech would have political import—but it will come only a few days before November 6 congressional elections.

So the president may be in Hyde Park during September, tentatively plans to lay the cornerstone of the institution the middle of next month have been changed to a dedicatory program late in October. The date has not yet been definitely fixed.

Mr. Roosevelt today discussed his Virginia visit and the veterans' situation with Representative Woodrum, chairman of the House subcommittee on veterans' affairs, and Frank T. Hines, the veterans administrator.

Rebuffed on Vets.
Special significance attached to the proposed Ronoke speech because it was on the veterans' issue that the president met his most severe rebuff from Congress. The vote to set aside the veto carried, despite relaxation of many of the regulations by which the administration cut $200,000,000 annually from veterans' costs in 1933.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Strikes involving 325,000 additional workers were voted tonight in the woolen and worsted, silk, rayon and synthetic rayon knitters' industries by the convention of the United Textile Workers of America. The convention yesterday voted a strike in the cotton textile industry, which employs 500,000 workers.

The votes to call out workers in the industries allied with the cotton textile industry were by a large majority.

In the silk and rayon industries the delegates left to the discretion of the new executive committee of the United Textile Workers of America and the executive committees of their own branches the time the strikes were to be called.

Woolen and worsted and synthetic rayon workers, however, decided to go out at the same time as the cotton textile employees. The convention had voted to call at 12 hours notice the cotton textile strike on or before September 1.

Russell Wood, president of the Silk Workers' Federation, said there were 125,000 workers in that industry, although not all are members of the union.

Representatives at the convention said that there are 150,000 workers employed in the woolen and worsted industry, and 50,000 in the synthetic rayon. All of the workers, however, are not members of the unions.

Before the vote on the silk and rayon resolution was taken Wood informed the convention that the workers would walk out voluntarily in sympathy with the cotton workers if the strike in that industry was called.

Emil Riede, of Milwaukee, led the opposition to the resolution and asserted "We ought to bite off just Continued in Page 2, Column 7.

McDONOUGH CRASH FATAL TO TWO MEN

Two Autoists Die When
Car Is Struck by South-

McDONOUGH, Ga., Aug. 17.—I. L. Sowell, 58, and Ernest Whitaker, 60, local citizens, were killed here tonight when the automobile in which they were traveling was struck by the Southern railway passenger train, en route from Atlanta to Fort Valley.

Sowell, who it is said was driving the car, was killed instantly and Whitaker lived only a few minutes after being pulled from the wreck. His body was badly mangled. The automobile was dragged some distance and was badly damaged.

The accident occurred about 6 o'clock, at what is known as Hampton's crossing, on the McDonough-Hampton highway, north of the railroad station.

Sowell is survived by his wife and six children and Whitaker leaves two brothers and two sisters.

Both men were prominent citizens of McDonough. Funeral plans have not been announced.

PEOPLE IN REVOLT, PITTMAN STATES

Candidate at Wrightsville Says Voters Resent Campaign Tactics.

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 17.—(P)—Governor Talmadge "is stopping at nothing in an effort to stem the tide of the revolt of honest, conscientious citizens of Georgia against his corrupt machine," Judge Claude Pittman, of Cartersville, an opponent in the race for governor, charged before a political audience here today.

Attacking what he termed "the Talmadge machine in politics," the Cartersville jurist said that "the people of Georgia are recognizing through the tactics employed in this campaign the similarity of this machine to that of Huey Long in Louisiana."

"But Huey Long," he continued, "in all of his political glory was never arrayed with the power bought with money of the people that Eugene Talmadge is today."

"There is still just one question that has not been determined in this campaign and that is whether the 'House of Talmadge' with their guns and bayonets, with all the resources and all of the employees of the state at their command, can take an election in Georgia on such a basis."

"They recognize the tide of resentment that is growing day by day. They see the handwriting on the wall, panic-stricken, they grasp at a straw in an effort to divert the minds of the people from the real issues."

"State employees are not to be blamed for their political service to Talmadge. The Talmadge appointees are objects of pity rather than scorn."

"Eugene Talmadge is their master. He holds the hoop and they have to jump through it. It's not for them to lose."

"He sends them to my meetings—he sends them to Washington, he has them to come out for him. He has a member of the board of control, appointed by the governor, is going to come out for him. He has been out for him ever since he was appointed."

"Even up in my own county, the Talmadge-appointed judge of the city court is forced to come out and make speeches for Talmadge, and tell the people that I did wrong because I did not let his client go to the electric chair."

Judge Pittman warned the people to be on the lookout "for anything until this campaign is over."

He charged the opposition has "tried to corrupt the registrars who hold the lists of voters in our counties. They have told them to open the books and let people register and they have been ready to furnish the price for their crowd to stuff the registration lists."

"But," Pittman said, "registrars in Georgia counties are honest. They get interpretation of the election and registration laws from county court judges who appointed them. They'll not allow this election to be bought; they'll not allow corruption to reach into their duties."

IMPROMPTU PARADE

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 17.—Citizens of Pulaski county gave Judge Claude Pittman a cordial welcome when he spoke here this afternoon.

A large group met him on the outskirts of the town and formed an impromptu parade which passed through the principal streets and was cheered by men and women. Nearly all the cars bore conspicuous signs reading: "Our Choice—Roosevelt and Pittman."

Judge Pittman was welcomed to Hawkinsville by W. N. Pate, chairman of the Pulaski county Pittman Club. Seated on the speaker's stand were Jack Brown, 90, only surviving Confederate veteran in Pulaski county, and L. C. Ragan, business leader and unopposed candidate for the state senate.

Judge Pittman was introduced by Judge Marion Turner, of the city court, who declared that the hope of Georgia lay in Judge Pittman being elected governor.

"Shame has been cast upon our great state," Judge Turner said, "because our chief executive has failed to heed the call of our president for help."

8-Pound Baby Born In House Automobile

GRIFTH, Ga., Aug. 17.—(P)—The stork won another race today when an eight-pound boy was born to Mrs. W. H. Treys, of New York, before the mother was able to reach the hospital. The baby's father, Rev. The baby was born just as the father drove up to the hospital.

PITTMAN IS TO SPEAK IN MARIETTA TODAY

MARIETTA, Ga., Aug. 17.—Judge Claude Pittman, of Cartersville, candidate for governor, will speak in Marietta Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The Pittman-for-Governor Club, formed here last week, has made extensive preparations to care for the large crowd expected to hear the address. A platform has been built near the signal light across from the First National bank, a wide area will be roped off, and traffic delayed in order to give ample space for the attending the meeting. Sound amplifiers will be installed so that the speaker may be heard all over the square.

Large delegations from the various districts in Cobb county are expected to be present to greet Judge Pittman and it is reported that many north Georgia counties will be liberally represented.

HOWARD IS TO SPEAK IN MACON LABOR DAY

MACON, Ga., Aug. 17.—(P)—William Schley Howard, who has been campaigning for Judge Claude Pittman, candidate for governor, has accepted an invitation to deliver the Labor Day address here, it was said by J. O. Morgan, president of the Macon Federation of Trades.

The federation passed a resolution previously had been invited to speak here by the Macon Federation but the invitation later was withdrawn. The federation passed a resolution condemning the "inexcusable, unpatriotic stand Governor Talmadge has taken against the NRA and labor in Georgia."

After the action of the labor body, the Bibb County Talmadge Club announced the governor would speak here on Labor Day under the auspices of that group.

U. S. REAPS "PROFIT" ON SILVER PURCHASE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(P)—The "profit" the government makes on silver is almost proving a rival to the income tax just now.

Seigniorage reaped since the beginning of the program to make silver a member of the metal back of the currency is running at nearly two-thirds of income receipts. It stands at $18,216,037, according to latest figures. The tax collections since July 1 amount to $28,430,299.

The "profit" is the difference between what the treasury pays for silver and the monetary value of $1.29 an ounce. Against free silver which was in the treasury before the silver purchase act, the government is issuing currency on the basis of $1.29 an ounce, although the cost was much lower. Officials have emphasized that there is no present plan to issue certificates on other silver at anything greater than a cost basis.

helpful co-operation of all public servants in the cause of recovery. Judge Pittman praised the status of the Georgia farmer today, and declared that "under the great democratic national administration" the New Deal is here to stay.

"Farmers in Georgia are getting more than they ever got for their tobacco and cotton in nearly three times now what it was a year ago. I'm not worried about the cotton and tobacco farmers in Georgia. They've got more sense than Eugene Talmadge seems to give them credit for. They know that President Roosevelt was responsible for this, and that if he had followed the governor's advice and had acceded to his demands they'd still be in a state of servitude to those whom they would have been forced to call on for more credit."

Judge Pittman reiterated his pledge to co-operate with the national democratic administration and declared that in Georgia he would use all his efforts to put into operation a program in behalf of the "little man."

He emphasized the need for a turnover in state governmental affairs, and the "recognition of men and women of unimpeachable character and reputation in state positions of honor and trust."

Judge Pittman discussed in detail his own 15-tank platform, declaring that the prerequisite of any such program is honesty in conducting the affairs of state.

He left here for Fort Valley.

GILLIAM DENIES PITTMAN CLAIM

Candidate at Baxley Says Cartersville Judge Seeks Monopoly in Race.

BAXLEY, Ga., Aug. 17.—Speaking here this afternoon to an audience of Baxley county citizens, Ed A. Gilliam, candidate for governor, declared that Judge Claude C. Pittman, the other opponent of Governor Talmadge, has undertaken in the pending campaign to monopolize the privilege of contesting the governor's re-election.

"A week or 10 days prior to the closing of the entry list for gubernatorial and other candidates," said Mr. Gilliam, "Judge Pittman announced that he would be a candidate against Governor Talmadge. The next day he announced that the right to contest the re-election of Governor Talmadge had been vested exclusively in him, and he served notice upon everybody in Georgia who might be against the governor to stay out of the lists and off the field and let him do the job."

"Judge Pittman is opposing Governor Talmadge and so am I. We are going about it in a different way and by a different method. In my opening campaign utterance, which was over the radio, I stated that I was opposing Talmadge because he placed himself above the law, because he had ridden roughshod over whatever law obstructed the accomplishment of his selfish purposes, because he had misused and abused authority belonging to himself and usurped authority belonging to others, because he had flouted the law-making prerogative of the legislature and defied the judicial prerogative of the courts."

In my printed platform, thousands of which have been distributed throughout the state, I repeated and amplified those statements.

"But I do not consider that the defeat of Governor Talmadge, objectionable as he is, will furnish a solution of the problems of our state government, and accordingly I have laid the main emphasis of my campaign upon a program of constructive measures, and have not gone up and down the state with a tirade of vilification."

"Judge Pittman's candidacy and campaign have consisted of nothing but tooth and claw. He has helped the governor, by that method. My honest opinion is that he has hurt the governor, but has hurt himself, and if the governor should be re-elected, the judge will be more to blame for it than any other man in Georgia."

"Your tax system in Georgia has bankrupted property and bankrupted the state, and you are going to pull out of that bog until you set up a new tax system. Mud-slinging back and forth between the governor and the judge is not going to help Georgia. Gilliam announced he would close the week's campaigning with a speech at Swainsboro Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and one at Dublin in the afternoon at 3.

LINDER PLEDGES AID ON FERTILIZER LAW

GREENSBORO, Ga., Aug. 17.—Speaking today at the courthouse at Sparta and here, Tom Linder, candidate for commissioner of agriculture, pledged rigid enforcement of Georgia's fertilizer laws, if elected.

"The need of commercial fertilizer constitutes," Linder said, "the greatest handicap of the southern farmer. The commercial value of fertilizer has been since the World War, the fertilizer code was put in force and the price to the farmer arbitrarily raised about $5 per ton. This was done at a time when most of the farmers were borrowing government money with which to pay cash for their fertilizer."

"As commissioner of agriculture, I shall rigidly enforce all of the laws of the state pertaining to the inspection and analysis of commercial fertilizer, and see that these laws are not evaded."

Work Against Floods.
WEST POINT, Ga., Aug. 17.—Work on the Chattahoochee river flood protection project is going steadily forward. The plan originated by Hill brothers, prominent engineers, in their study years ago of relieving West Point from flood hazards, has been approved by the United States army engineers at Washington.

Residents of the east side in crossing the river to the business section of West Point each day, miss the inviting appearance of trees and bushes which have made a soft fringe on the river bank.

Army engineers are of the opinion as set forth in the Hall report, that the trees and bushes have acted as a natural dam, retarding the flow of the water, and causing the river to fill up with sand and other impediments.

Statement Given Out Was Unauthorized, W. D. Langley, President, Asserts.

W. D. Langley, president of the Atlanta Barbers' Union, Friday issued a formal statement clarifying the action of his organization in approving the resolutions of the executive committee of the state federation condemning the governor for approving the highway department's wage scale. In his statement the union official specifically pointed out that his organization did not endorse any candidate for governor.

"The position of the barbers' local No. 23 is mutual in any political campaign," Langley said. "We did not endorse either candidate and the statement which declared that we had no authority to issue it," the president declared.

"The barbers serve the general public and have no wish to take issue with any candidates, state, county or city. We did not discuss the candidacy of any man at the meeting and furthermore all business conducted by the barbers' local is strictly secret. The person who made the statement that we had supported the resolution of the Georgia Federation of Labor had no authority to issue it," the president declared.

Harvey Kennedy, whose address at American Legion barbecue in behalf of Judge Claude Pittman, candidate for governor, was followed by resolutions condemning Kennedy for his political talk passed by Atlanta Post No. 1, Friday told the post that he spoke as "an individual" and not as an official of the Legion.

Kennedy is judge-advocate of the state Legion.

He said he went to the barbecue "in an individual capacity. I was not introduced as a Legionnaire and I made no attempt to pledge the Legion. I love the Legion's ideals and I have never tried to use the organization to benefit anyone."

The Fulton County Pittman Club Friday invited J. J. Mangham, of Bremen, former chairman of the state highway board, to make an address over Station WSB some time next week. Several days ago Mangham said that he was going to reveal why he broke with Governor Talmadge. Mangham has been a leading supporter of Judge Pittman, spending a great deal of his time at Pittman headquarters here.

Minister Denies Slaying Deacon.
MOULTON, Ala., Aug. 17.—(P)—Taking the stand in his own defense, the Rev. L. P. Royer, Baptist minister, tonight denied any connection with the slaying of Frank Pickens, 83-year-old deacon of his church, for whose murder the minister today went on trial for his life.

The minister admitted being out in his automobile with his son, William, and the son-in-law of July 23 when Pickens was slain but said they were picking blackberries. He said he did not see Pickens at all on the day of the slaying.

Previously the state had introduced testimony regarding an alleged quarrel between the minister and Pickens on the Sunday preceding the slaying and evidence that the minister raised a shotgun and pointed it at the deacon.

The witness said she turned away and started running toward town and a moment later heard a shot fired. Looking back she said she saw blue smoke rising from the point where she had last seen the minister and Pickens.

Truck Driver Dies In Blazing Wreckage.
Roy Meadows, 28-year-old Nashville, Tenn., truck driver, was trapped in the cab of his truck and burned to death shortly before 8 o'clock Friday morning when his vehicle plunged from the Marietta road at an underpass, and burst into flames.

Meadows was transporting a load of lumber from Atlanta to Marietta and was employed by the Hoover Motor Express Company. The vehicle consisted of a cab and a trailer. Just what caused the truck to go out of control is not determined. Rounding an "S" curve at the underpass outside of Marietta, the truck left the road and struck an embankment after going through the underpass.

The cab was telescoped by the trailer and the flames which broke out prevented rescuers from reaching the imprisoned driver. The body was removed to Marietta to await the arrival of relatives.

BODY FOUND AT TIFTON IS NOT IDENTIFIED.
TIFTON, Ga., Aug. 17.—(P)—Viewed by scores of persons, the body of a man found in a cotton field near here remained unidentified today.

Police expressed the belief the man had met death elsewhere and his body left in the field where it was found yesterday. Outer clothing had been removed and the only mark by which they said identification might be established was an old scar about the size of a dollar on the right arm. The man was described as about 25 years old, weighing 170 pounds, 6 feet tall, and a blond.

TEXTILE STRIKE CALLED

The nation-wide strike called by the United Textile Workers of America will, if it materializes, come at a critical time, not only for the mills but for the workers and the communities that will be affected.

The textile industry, the first to adopt an NRA code, has been battling a sharp slump from the encouraging business done last year, and only a few months ago found it necessary to ask permission of the NRA to reduce production in order to avoid the creation of a surplus in manufactured cotton goods that would have sent prices downward.

In the case of the employees, it is admitted by their leaders that the financial condition of the national organization is such as to permit but little aid being extended to the workers should they go out on strike. This will mean that the workers and the families, in the event the strike order goes into effect and continues for any length of time, will face the certainty of serious hardships.

The stopping of mill pay rolls will have a depressing effect on hundreds of communities from Alabama to Maine, just at a time when hope is bright for a material improvement in business conditions during the approaching fall.

Regardless of the justice or lack of justice of the claims of the textile workers, it is unfortunate that the delegates to the New York meeting seem to have been swayed by leaders inclined to radical policies and whose inflammatory speeches were not, to say the least, conducive to sane and sober consideration of the vital step under consideration.

The delegates listened to fervid criticisms of the NRA, and of General Johnson, being told that this federal organization "is going to be used for the benefit of the bosses" and that "the hour to act is here."

Certainly such ill-judged remarks are in sharp contrast to the often expressed opinion of President Roosevelt that under NRA labor has been able to progress to its greatest influence, with higher wages and shorter hours of work than have ever before existed. Such statements are also sharply divergent from the claim of many industrial leaders that under NRA business is called on to carry an impossible load in order that the interests of labor may be advanced.

One of the speakers who appeared before the New York conference is quoted as insisting that "southern chambers of commerce not invite northern capital down to grind the blood and bones out of the people."

Instead of protesting the use of outside capital in the south, labor should give its earnest support to such investments. Such capital has made possible the splendid development of industry in the south during the past quarter of a century, opening up many thousands of new jobs for the workers of this section.

Whether or not there are conditions in the textile industry that are unfair to the workers, the way to eliminate them is not through radical appeals to prejudice and passion. The collapse of the San Francisco strike is evidence of the outcome to be expected from following such leadership.

Especially in southern textile mills the relations between employer and employee have been generally of a satisfactory and understanding nature. It is to be earnestly hoped that in keeping with this record of harmony the mills and their workers may iron out their differences before the date set for the strike and thus avoid a shut-down in the industry that will be unfortunate in every aspect.

America will be the last country in the world to have a revolution, says Emma Goldman. Well, it is about the only country that hasn't had one.

Even to collect their thoughts, some men have to do it in installments.

THE NEW EXCHANGE RULES.

The rules and regulations promulgated by the federal securities and exchange commission to govern the conduct of the various exchanges of the country are not of such a nature as to constitute definite safeguards for investors, but they are a step towards that end. They will be supplemented later by additional regulations directed at the prevention of the evils which have existed in the past in the operation of the exchanges.

The most important of the rules announced are those requiring registration, not only by the exchanges but of the securities traded on them. Incident to this registration, basic information will be made public from which investors can far more safely direct their buying and selling activities. An investor with this information at hand will have nobody but himself to blame if he buys fundamentally unsound securities.

Only a few days before the commission's rules were announced, the senate banking and currency committee issued a report in which the need for a sound reorganization of investment trading was again emphasized, the committee pointing out, however, that "many of the abuses in investment banking have resulted from the incompetence, negligence, irresponsibility or cupidity of individuals in the profession. Such abuses can be eliminated only by the elimination of such persons from the field."

The report strongly condemns such practices as price pegging, high fees and the flotation of unsound bonds. Commenting upon the latter evil, Senator Fletcher, of Florida, chairman of the committee, holds that—

The record of the activities of investment bankers in the flotation of foreign securities is one of the most scandalous chapters in the history of American investment banking.

The sale of these foreign issues was characterized by practices and abuses which were violative of the most elementary principles of business.

The foreign securities outstanding in the hands of the American public as of March 1, 1934, are estimated at about $7,080,000,000, of which approximately $2,900,000,000 in principal amounts are in default.

The colossal loss sustained by the public on bond issues sponsored by investment bankers manifests that these bankers were either incompetent or derelict in the performance of their duties.

The new control of the exchanges, made possible under the stock exchange act and the securities act passed at the last session of congress, is designed not only to safeguard the investors of the country but as a protection for the honest and ethical investment houses from the activities of unscrupulous operators.

In order that the exchanges may not be handicapped in the performance of their proper and vitally important functions, the first rules and regulations issued by the securities and exchange commission call for no radical changes in operation methods. These may come later, if it is found that they are needed, but will be gradually applied in order that there will be no unnecessary interruption in the steady conduct of trading.

Rest Awhile!

An Awakening of The Gospel.

This phrase, "Awakening of the Gospel," I heard mentioned the other day in Switzerland, when I attended service in the Munster of Zurich. At first the thought disturbed me. How can there be an awakening of something that has always been with us? Can the Gospel go to sleep? Cease to function? Lose its power? And then stage a come-back? Yet when you come to think of it, these things are possible. As there is a dying and resurrection in the natural world, a constant change from winter to summer and from summer to autumn and spring, so there is a withering of values in the spiritual realm.

Look at history. There was a time when the great Gothic and Romanic cathedrals reared their amazing spires into the air. That was the spring of the middle ages. In those days there were cloisters in which earnest souls retired, giving up all earthly love, for the love of God. That was the time when a Saint Francis wandered through the land with his sweet songs of love and poverty. When an Elizabeth of Thuringia cared for a sick king, and a Fra Angelico painted his divine canvases. But that spring time passed. It withered like a flower.

Then came the reformation. A thunderbolt swept over the world. It was as if the Gospel were newly discovered. The disquietude of the masses was stilled. They were given the Gospel to read in their own language. They read of the freedom of the Christian and of the grace of God. The world was purified, also the Roman world, which had threatened a sink away into spiritual worldliness under popes like Borgia and Rovere.

Then Winter Came Again.

Everyone of us knows that this glorious spring of the reformation has been followed by a new winter. The tree of religion and of goodness has been stripped of its leaves. Modern man passed that tree without paying the slightest attention to it. Religious mores crumbled away. The Bible became an uninteresting book containing Jewish folk-tales. Criticism demolished what was left. It was winter. But a new spring is announcing itself. It is growing in the hearts of men. The old conceptions will never come back. The old theology is done for. Never again will men believe in sets of phrases, creeds, dogmas, or the expectation of gaining happiness therewith. A rational religion is coming.

I know the old-style clerics will protest that I am exaggerating. They only need to come out of their study and look around in the world. Here and there in the backwoods, the old dogmas might still hold their head high. But even there the old conceptions there comes sweeping a new wind of the spirit.

Harbingers of Spring.

Whoever has ears to hear and eyes to see, will acknowledge that the thoughts which are the central thoughts of the Gospel, are gaining ground in this world. That is why I say the Gospel looks new. Here and there appear men who have given up the beginning of the reformation. Men are beginning to grow conscious that nothing matters in this world but human dignity, that if the human mind is to be free, it must be free of God, you must not destroy that temple, and Jesus has called us "sons of God."

Everywhere arise forces which want to put man on a higher plane, tear him out of the rut where he was but a soulless automaton, who had to live in indignity and poverty. I say the Gospel looks new. Here and there appear men who have given up the beginning of the reformation. Men are beginning to grow conscious that nothing matters in this world but human dignity, that if the human mind is to be free, it must be free of God, you must not destroy that temple, and Jesus has called us "sons of God."

It is the new spring, the awakening of the Gospel that is coming. (Copyright, 1934, for The Constitution.)

HEALTH TALKS

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

CARBOHYDRATES ARE EASY TO EAT.

Thanks to the delectable carbohydrates the indefinite border between overweight and obesity grows ever broader. The carbohydrates are so easy to eat, and eating is so pleasurable, and the habit of acknowledging pleasure in the eating of food is so strong that the first 30 pounds of slackness or flesh is actual obesity, especially when it is on our own bones or those of our friends.

It is a course, on carbohydrates that people grow fat. Cake, pastry, bread, toast, cereals, crackers, biscuits, sugar, syrup, ice cream, candy, sweet puddings and sauces, and sweetened beverages—it is easy enough to consume a few hundred calories in these tempting viands even when one is not at all hungry.

Besides, carbohydrate foods are the cheapest and the most plentiful. Nothing cheaper than corn pone and "lasses" grows in the south. White bread, potatoes and sweets are the cheapest staples everywhere. If that were not enough, the food police are so busy that they have no time to check on the crude sugar or sugar and market it to the ignorant American public in a dainty package as an "assisting" food. Let after all the house-poultice has been said and done it is still just carbohydrate.

If you've ever been hungry or famished or tired and weak for want of nothing so quickly put you back in the running or restores your well being or banishes the depression, a little sugar in any form. That is because sugar is quickly absorbed and immediately utilized by the body to provide energy. And that is why young persons who play or work hard need and should have plenty of sugar or sweets.

But while carbohydrate serves ideally as emergency ration it does not and cannot satisfy the call of the body cells for nourishment. The cells require minerals and vitamins to do their work. The tissues composed of cells cannot carry on their metabolism without the necessary mineral elements and vitamins. The individual cannot enjoy optimum health without adequate daily supply of these accessory factors as well as the fuel materials.

You take a prodigious breakfast of toast, cereal, milk, coffee, or tea, or another chiefly, with sugar or syrup, as the substantial part of the meal. A few hours later you begin to crave more food. You're not actually hungry, of course, but you feel let

News Behind the News

BY PAUL MALLON.

DANGER WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Some formerly gay and cocksure New Dealers are not getting their customary eight hours of rest these nights, worrying about the drought policy.

The people outside may not know it, but that problem offers the most serious political difficulties yet encountered by the New Deal. It might very easily prove to be a disastrous shoal on which the whole Rooseveltian theory of farm relief could run aground.

This does not mean there is any real danger of famine, ruinous price gouging, or disastrously depleted farm purchasing power. Those things can and will be amply cared for. The danger lies in the means of taking care of them.

POPULARITY Right now, every insider believes President Roosevelt will have to impose some price-fixing restraints to keep profiteers and speculators from trying to run away with the show.

As soon as he does, he must reverse the economic and political theory on which the AAA has been running, or at least throw it out of gear. It was popular in the farm belt to pay out money for curtailed acreage, as long as it boosted prices up. It will be decidedly unpopular to stop the natural price rise and tell the farmers who have crops that they cannot get any more than a certain fixed price.

This basic difficulty is further emphasized by the fact that many farmers outside the drought areas are now spending their idle evenings figuring up what they would have made if they had planted all their acreage this year.

In view of this, there is considerable private discussion as to whether the administration can even attempt an acreage curtailment program next year. If the government tried to sign the farmers up for it today, you can well imagine how far it would get.

SOCIALISM? The technique of any price-fixing step involves extreme dangers. The New Dealers have been called—practically everything in the world, including communists and socialists, but even the most liberal of them is sincerely against price-fixing of any kind. The experience of the AAA (in milk, particularly) and the NRA (in the codes) proved that you might as well invite a hive of bees into your house as to try to fix prices. It is not only well-nigh impossible to arrive at a really fair price, but it is certainly impossible to enforce it after you arrive at it.

The AAAs and NRAs have been stung every time they attempted it, and both will lament for President Roosevelt if he is forced into it.

HAY To make the political angle even worse, the opposition is now setting up a hue and cry that it was wrong and unnatural to curtail the hoarding of food. At least one preacher emitted a sermon on that subject which reached the front pages.

Such things may or may not be true, but a lot of political hay can be mowed out of that field.

It explains quite adequately why the official announcements, statements and speeches recently have been confined to generalities about stopping profiteering and about guaranteeing that no one will want for food. Also, it is enough to keep a man up nights.

SOUND-OUT Der furore's henchmen have been sounding us out secretly about getting government credits here. Apparently, the Germans believe they can arrange to get our surplus government cotton for a song, and we will furnish the music while all we get is the words.

Certain foreign trade enthusiasts who are not very close to the top here have given the Germans unofficial encouragement in response to their unofficial requests.

Hitler also is known to be seeking credits in England, and is supposed to have met with more encouragement there than here. The publicity men for our foreign trade enthusiasts will find it hard to make German credits popular in this country now.

FISH There has been no peace in the White House since Colonel Watson caught that fish. He is the military aide who went there with Secretaries Howe and Early to greet the president. The three stopped at an inn in Oregon for a two-hour stay and Colonel Watson decided to try for a salmon.

Howe and Early saw a chance for some easy money and decided to wager a slight sum that Colonel Watson would come back empty-handed. They went along with Watson to the fishing ground to make sure that he did not try to put over any canned salmon on them. Imagine their delight when they found the river full of fishermen who had not caught a minnow all day.

Damnable Colonel Watson took his reel in hand and went out in a boat. Howe felt so confident he remained on shore, but Early went along to watch. Watson was just going to cast his hook when a 14-pound salmon jumped up—and bit it.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad To His Red-Headed Daughter

By Robert Quillen

My Dear Louise:
I wasn't surprised when you came home full of praise for Ethel's town and the charming people there.

Every time you go a-visiting in some other town, you think the place superior to your own village—especially if it is larger. And you are convinced that life in any one of these places would be richer, more entertaining and happier.

Here at home there is nothing to do, and only some other larger town can you hope to find opportunity.

Don't think I am criticizing. All youngsters worth their salt feel that way. I did at your age, and so did all of my friends. It is one of nature's shrewd little tricks to preserve the race.

If all people were home-bodies, without any urge to travel, everybody would huddle in one spot and live in want while continents reaped untold wealth, and families would intermarry until the race petered out.

But opportunity isn't in some other place, my dear. In every town that seems wonderful to you there are thousands of girls and boys who dream of getting away from the lousy place so they can be somebody. It is true that one must take a talent to the best market in selling any other commodity, but opportunity is where you make it and the size of the market doesn't make a poor article good.

Eventually, no matter where you go, you must follow the age-old rule: Do the best you can, with what you have, where you are.

And the sooner you get at it, the less heartache you will have to endure before learning wisdom.

Love,

movement to obtain more home rule for the municipalities of Georgia, a fairer distribution of taxes collected by the state from the municipalities, and other relief.

Mayor Gamble presided. The keynote was sounded by Mayor James L. Key, of Atlanta, president of the state association. Mayor Key asserted that "this is not an organization formed for the purpose of pulling the wool over the eyes of the people, but a genuine outgrowth of the fire," but he said, "antique and archaic legislation has hamstringed and throttled the municipalities, small and large, of Georgia."

The several hundred municipalities, he asserted, pay far more than half the taxes in Georgia and comprise an equal number of the population, yet down a weary, a bit fagged and so you indulge in a bit of beverage of one kind or another, which provides just the pick-up you crave, sugar.

Now suppose you were sentenced to an institution where you provide only wholesome, healthful food. Your breakfast would include these natural items: (1) A fresh fruit in season; (2) one or two eggs cooked as you prefer; (3) pure fresh raw milk or cream or butter. A roll or slice of toast or a dish of any unadorned cereal, such as plain wheat or oatmeal, as you prefer. And tea, coffee or cocoa if you like. That's just a specimen breakfast. If everybody could have such food instead of the sorry mass of dead stuff that constitutes the usual breakfast overweight among humans beings would become as rare as it is among undernourished animals. Huey Returns To State Scene

Under command of Huey P. Long, the Louisiana state legislature is meeting in special session at this time to pass such laws as may be necessary to deal with the drought conditions of the government of the city of New Orleans. Huey is tired of Washington and the United States senate and is coming back home to elect himself governor again in the next holding of the solemn referendum which, no doubt, he can do very easily, God sparing him.

He has not had a drink since the adjournment of congress in Washington. Drama never did him any good. He often over-spoke himself when he was through the bottom of a glass and on one memorable occasion about a year ago in a dressy but not necessarily exclusive club on Long Island, he was puffed in the eye by one of the members for a breath of manners. The senator went on to Milwaukee where he appeared the next day wearing a shanty on his eye, claiming that he had been puffed by a crowd of low characters. But it never was necessary to gang Huey. In a physical fight conducted according to the American tradition, he would not lick a hen butterfly with a flit-gun and the accepted explanation of the famous battle of the giant's room was that he had been puffed by a crowd of low characters. TALMADGE SPEAKS AT GAINESVILLE

Governor Will Address
Rally at 11 A. M.; Farmer Predicts Victory.

Governor Eugene Talmadge will resume his campaign for re-election today with a speech at Gainesville which is scheduled to begin at 11 o'clock. The governor will be introduced by Judge G. F. Jones, veteran Hall county jurist. The meeting will be presided over by Colonel Sandy Beaver, chief of the governor's military staff. Governor Talmadge, accompanied by Mrs. Talmadge and a party of friends, will leave here at 8 o'clock this morning for Gainesville, traveling by way of Lawrenceville, Buford and Flowery Branch. Following the Gainesville speech the governor will return to Atlanta and go to Lakewood Park, where he will make the address of welcome to visitors gathered there for the opening of the harness racing season. The governor is an ardent horse enthusiast and one of his horses will be entered in the events at the park.

A motorcade to Gainesville sponsored by the Fulton County Talmadge Club will leave the Belle Isle garage here at 8:30 o'clock this morning. Henry C. Davidson, president of the club, said that a large number of the governor's supporters from Cumming and other cities near Atlanta would join in the motorcade here.

Farmers' Support Predicted.
Governor Talmadge Friday made public a letter he received from W. C. Braswell, of Glascock county, in which Mr. Braswell summed up the issues of the campaign and predicted that the farmers of the state would back the governor as they have supported him in his past races.

"Mr. Braswell's letter sums up the situation the best way I ever saw," the governor said. "I wish I could make a campaign speech half as good."

Mr. Braswell, in his letter, declares that the farmers of Georgia will vote for Governor Talmadge's re-election in the coming September primary. "The old farmer stood by you two years ago and we are going to stand by you this time," he writes. "We will remember you for what you have done for us."

Listing the achievements of Governor Talmadge as he sees them, Mr. Braswell mentions his appreciation of the $3 automobile license tag and a reduction in his taxes for 1933. He says that his friends tell him railroad fares have been reduced and that bills for power are lower.

Hits Old Road Board.
He voices approval of the governor's removal from office of the old state highway board and the public service commission and says "Keep them weaned off."

After paying some strong respects to Judge Claude Pittman, one of the governor's opponents, and a group alleged to be supporting the Pittman campaign, Mr. Braswell refers to the advice Talmadge gave the farmers in regard to sowing more wheat and so making their own bread.

"I have never seen as much wheat in my life as there was raised in Georgia this year," he continues. "This shows you how your advice was taken. There will be more wheat sowed this fall than last."

Further in his letter he writes: "I am not the only one praying for you to win. The Christian people over Georgia are praying for you. God will not bless a man or set men up who will go around and tell lies and slander good men like you."

He concludes: "We want you for governor for two more years and then we won't be satisfied till we put you in the United States senate."

MOTORCADE ARRANGED BY JACKSON COUNTIANS
NICHOLSON, Ga., Aug. 17.—Politics is warming up in Jackson county since the friends of Governor Talmadge are forming one of the biggest motorcades in the history of the state to hear him speak at Gainesville Saturday morning. The 'cade will take on its initial cars in Newton district, which gave the governor a three-to-one vote two years ago, and will continue its way through the county until hundreds of voters will be picked up. Dr. J. C. Verner, of Commerce, heads the delegation, acting as chairman of the following committee: Jack Murphy, Talmadge; Judge C. L. Bryson, Jefferson; Clayton Colquitt, Apple Valley; Will Smith, Commerce; and Thomas Dailey, Nicholson.

The motorcade will follow this schedule: Leave Nicholson at 8 o'clock; Commerce 8:20; Apple Valley 8:40; Jefferson 9; Pendergrass 9:20; Talmadge 9:30; arrive Gainesville 10 o'clock. All members who desire to enter the 'cade are requested to assemble at one of the above places.

150 Garment Workers' Complaints Are Heard

The regional labor board heard complaints Friday afternoon of 150 striking women employees of the Nunally-McCrea Manufacturing Company, makers of overalls. Violation of wage and working conditions of the code were charged by the workers, who are members of the garment workers' union.

The hearing began at 2:30 o'clock in the circuit courtroom in the old postoffice building, and the room was filled with workers. Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University, presided.

The strikers were questioned one by one as to working conditions, particularly about the effect of the Bedouin system recently adopted by the company. Under this system, operators testified, one woman was made to do the work of two at only a slightly increased rate of pay.

The employers' side of the controversy will be heard by the board sometime next week. Adjournment was taken after the labor side had made out its case. The company had agreed to abide by the board's arbitration of the dispute, but later withdrew its agreement, and the board functioned as a fact-finding body.

2 ROADS TO PUT CUTS IN EFFECT ON MONDAY
The Southern and the Seaboard railroads Friday formally notified the Georgia public service commission that they will put into effect next Monday the reduced rates on "class" shipments and shipments of petroleum and naval stores.

Other railroads are expected to follow the action of Georgia's major carriers today.

Governor Talmadge formally announced Friday that he will accept the 1933 tax figures of the railroads providing they put the new rates into effect, despite the fact that the roads reserve the right to ask the interstate commerce commission to study them.

GRANT BEATEN AT NEWPORT BY OLD RIVAL

Frank Parker Wears Down 'Bitsy'; Meets Allison in Finals.

By Bill King.
NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Wilmer Allison and Frankie Parker, two methodical shotmakers who keep banging away at their opponents' weak spots until they break through, today gained the final round of the Newport Casino singles tennis tournament by employing almost the same tactics.

Allison, runner-up to Frank Shields here last year, gained his second straight Casino final by wearing down the greatly improved Berkeley, Calif., New York, 6-4, 1-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2. Parker entered the last round after giving the new play court champion, Bryan "Bitsy" Grant, of Atlanta, a 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3 trouncing.

Half of the doubles final bracket became occupied after the entire United States Davis cup team went into action on the same court. The national champions, George Lott and Lester Stofen, who gained the only American point in the international finale against the British, had little difficulty turning back Shields and Sidney Wood, who divided the Davis cup singles assignments, in straight sets, 6-4, 9-7, 6-3.

In the only other match on the card, Allison and his personal partner, Johnny Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, qualified for the semi-final match against Bell and Gregory Mangin, of Newark, by defeating the California youngsters, Gene Mako, new national junior finalist, and red-haired Donald Budge, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Unless Allison and Van Ryn decide to default to Bell and Mangin tomorrow, the doubles final will be put over until Sunday morning, despite the conflict with the East-West matches in New York and the Monday opening of the national doubles tournament at Philadelphia.

The Parker-Grant affair was tame compared to the keen play in the lower half semi-final, Mercer Beasley's prize protegee, who plays like a machine, kept the tiny Grant on the run from start to finish and cracked him wide open long before match point was reached. Parker finished with 36 earned points and 70 errors, 37 of which were drives over the line, against 29 earned for Grant and 87 flubbed strokes.

BUFORD SWAMPS DOUGLASVILLE

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 17.—Buford and Douglasville were again all square in the season's series following today's game, in which Buford won, 9 to 1. It marked the seventh victory and the seventh loss for each team out of 14 played to date and was witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season.

The two teams will resume their wars again Tuesday afternoon when a free game will be played here. The game will follow a political rally at which all the candidates for the September election have been invited to participate or have their representatives present.

Ralph Head, veteran Douglasville hurler who defeated Buford Tuesday at Buford, and Cleo Jeter, who lost Tuesday, were the opposing hurlers again today. Jeter had the best of today's battle and limited the locals to eight hits, while his mates collected 15 off the delivery of Head.

Claude Herin, the fiery Buford third baseman, led the attack for the visitors with three hits out of five attempts. He also played well in the field, as did a majority of the Buford players, particularly the infield.

Virlon Moore Jr. hit best for Douglasville, getting two of the eight hits. Buford is seeking a game for Saturday.

Athletics Obtain Moses, Georgia Boy

Wallace Moses, outfielder and Vidalia (Ga.) boy, has been purchased by the Philadelphia Athletics from the Galveston club of the Texas league. It became known yesterday.

Moses, 24 years old, is a left-handed batter and thrower. His hard hitting in the Texas league, where he is batting .335, attracted the attention of Athletics scouts and they recommended his purchase by Connie Mack.

The Georgia boy has been playing professional ball since 1931. He weighs 175 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches tall.

He will join the A's at the end of the Texas league season.

Ty Cobb Gets Great Thrill in Seeing Tigers in Action!

"It was quite a thrill, seeing them play and win," said Ty Cobb, the greatest ball player the game ever knew.

He had just been asked what he thought of the Detroit Tigers and their great march toward the pennant. Cobb was at his mother's home in Atlanta, en route back to California.

"Mickey Cochrane is a great manager," he said. "You know," he continued, "I believe perhaps I may have been the first to see the managerial possibilities in Cochrane. That was in 1927 and 1928 when I was with Philadelphia."

"I told Mickey then that he should be in a manager's job somewhere. He had the quality of leadership and the men liked him. And now I am glad to see he is doing a great job managing."

"What do you think of this team and its chances?" I asked.

"Well, they've got a lot of youth," he said, "and you know youth can develop a lot of enthusiasm and fire. I think they have a great chance to win."

Cobb enjoyed being in Detroit. They asked him to throw out the first ball and made of him the celebrity he really is.

The game has never seen a player who could equal Ty Cobb, who broke into the game in 1904, just 30 years ago, as a raw rookie from Royston, Ga. The Augusta club of 1904 started him off on a career which probably will never be equalled.

Cobb will remain here for a day or so and then move back to Chicago and then on to California where golf and the perpetual sunshine has made him a loyal Californian.

He played with Detroit's first pennant winner in modern years, being with them in 1907, 1908 and 1909 when they won their three successive American league pennants.

AS FOR THOSE DETROITS.

As for those Detroitis, they are five and a half games out in front of the pack after taking three of five games from those Yankees.

There are 41 games left on the Detroit schedule. The Yankees have 42 games left to play. But by doing a nose dive into the schedule one may also come up with the information that the Yankees have 24 left at home to 19 for the Detroitis.

The opposition favors the Yankees a very little bit. Not enough to cause one to rush forth waving betting money.

It's great to be a front runner but if one stumbles—the second team is likely to trample one severely, leaving various cuts, abrasions and bruises and a sad memory to nurse through the winter months.

The Yankees and the Detroitis have a four-game series in September which may decide the pennant. And the Yankees have but three games left with those improving Red Sox. The Detroitis have eight.

Yes, sir, put away those spades, boys. This is not quite time for the grave digging act nor time to soliloquize, "Alas, poor Yorick Yank, I knew him, Horatio."

THOSE GIANTS.

Those Giants have a margin in their league just as wide as that enjoyed by the Detroitis. It appears, though, that whether one likes it or not, Bill Terry's club has a better chance even than the Detroitis.

The Cubs do not quite have it. And the Giants manage to keep going, their double-header over Pittsburgh yesterday giving them added impetus.

That "five-cent world series," so called by the New Yorkers because they could travel to either the Yankee or Giant park for a nickel subway fare, is still a very definite possibility. But the faithful are making reservations in their favorite Detroit hotels just the same.

CAVEAT EMPTOR.

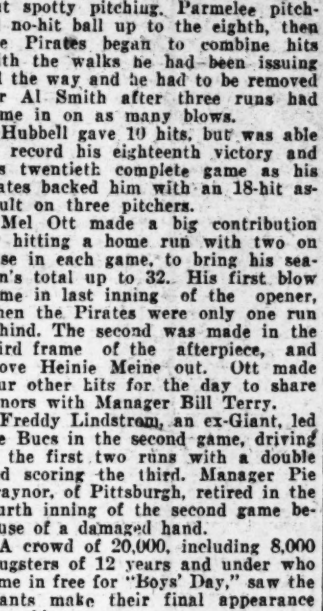

I am hoping that our Mr. Spencer Abbott looked very carefully at Harry Kelly's teeth and saw to it that he had both his arms when he purchased him from the Memphis club.

HELEN JACOBS IN SEMI-FINALS

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 17. (UP)—England's threat to regain the United States national women's tennis championship came to an abrupt halt today when the remaining three overseas stars were defeated in the quarter-final round.

Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Cal., defending champion, scored an easy victory over Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of Santa Monica, Cal., and now of London, 6-0, 6-1.

Meantime Sarah Palfrey, diminutive Bostonian, fought through three furious sets to beat Freda James, English ace, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, and Carolin Babcock, of Los Angeles, put out the last surviving British player, pretty Kay Stammers, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

The fourth quarter-final match involved the divorcees of the tourney, Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, of Stamford, Conn., and the Baroness Maud Levi, of Minden, Nev., with the former winning, 6-1, 6-4.

In tomorrow's semi-finals Miss Palfrey plays Mrs. Andrus and Miss Jacobs plays Miss Babcock.

The day's thriller was the Babcock-Stammers meeting. Carolin, the attractive star with jet black hair, looked like a champion of champions in the opening set, but seemed to lose heart after dropping the lead in the second, and Miss Stammers closed out with a rushing three-set victory.

Key took command in the final set by breaking through Carolin's service with the loss of but one point. Carolin broke back and went on to a 4-1 lead. Miss Stammers evicted her by winning the next three games but Miss Babcock won the ninth at love, and broke service for set and match.

Miss Palfrey was given a close rub by tiny Miss James. Sarah slammed home placement after placement in the opening set but slumped in the next. She broke service to tie the count at 2-2 and there were three more service breaks until the count was four-all.

Miss James then held service and broke through to take the ninth game.

Miss James lost control in the final set but might have prolonged it if she had been able to keep on her feet. She tumbled four times.

Crackers Remove 'Jinx' By Purchasing Kelley

Abbott Hints at Other Steps To Strengthen Club for 1935 Season.

By Jimmy Jones.

Spencer Abbott, the newly elevated nabob of the Cracker office, hasn't let any grass grow under his feet, so to speak. In fact, Spencer, who will divide his time, temporarily at least, between the coaching lines and the swivel chair so amply filled by the late Wilbert Robinson, is already at work on the plan of reorganization.

His first official act since being empowered to execute the Crackers' presidential, as well as managerial affairs, was recorded yesterday when he announced the purchase of Harry Kelley, stocky Memphis right-hander and perennial nemesis of Atlanta hitters over the decade in which he has been a Southern league pitcher.

Kelley, who has won 19 ball games for Memphis already this year, not only reports for immediate duty but is counted upon by Abbott to form the nucleus of next year's staff, along with Lynn Nelson and Bill Schmidt, who will be retained.

In trying Kelley, loose from the Crackers, Abbott followed the teachings of the old political bromide: "if you can't lick 'em, join 'em." It has long been the policy of major league clubs to remove a "jinx" pitcher by the simple process of purchasing him from an opposition club.

WELCOME "JINER."

So Kelley is to "jinx" the Crackers at all these years and may be the club's jinxes (there must be several of them) thereby will be eradicated. The 28-year-old veteran who has borne the various titles of the "Parkin Schoolboy," the "Vandale Milkman," all illustratively, in the years he pitched for Memphis, New Orleans and Birmingham, will don a white uniform and walk out under the floodlights next Tuesday night at Ponce de Leon park to pitch for the Crackers against none other than his ex-associates, the Chickasaws.

It is a safe conjecture that other player purchases and acquisitions will follow that of Kelley. It is no secret that Abbott wants more long distance driving power in his 1935 outfield and also another infielder who can bust the ball with regularity in the pinch.

Abbott told the writer as much in the New Orleans series week before last when he said that his club needed at least one or two ace pitchers and the type of players mentioned above if they were going anywhere this year or next. Abbott has been "sweet" on Kelley as one of the pitchers needed for a long time.

YANKEES WIN OPENER, 5 TO 0, BEHIND GOMEZ

Detroit Bunches Hits for Only Runs in 2-to-0 Nightcap Victory.

By Alan Gould.

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, Detroit's lanky 22-year-old pitching sensation from El Dorado, Ark., stood the New York Yankees on their collective heads today for the second time in three days and swept to his 14th consecutive victory of the American league campaign on the crest of a dazzling shut-out performance.

Despite a heavy fall in the second inning, when he tripped over this base and nearly broke his ankle, Rowe recovered from a streak of subsequent wildness to check the Yankees with three solitary singles, struck out no less than 11 batters and added a 2-0 triumph to his remarkable winning streak.

The giant "boy wonder," who is now within two games of equalling the record American league streak of 16 jointly held by Joe Wood, Walter Johnson and Bob Feller, blanketed the Tigers to an even break in the concluding double-header of the crucial series and thrilled a crowd of 46,571 spectators.

South's Outstanding Pacers Will Race Today at Lakewood

PROGRAM CALLS FOR FIVE EVENTS; LOTZ RETURNS

'Captain' Bill to Drive Governor's Horse in Harness Meet.

Harness racing, with the south's best pacers and trotters entered, will return to Lakewood park's historic old mile track this afternoon in a renewal of the grand old sport.

Another feature is the appearance of Billy Lotz, who drove on the Grand circuit 30 years ago, and George Stiles, also a veteran of the big circuit and at present a successful trainer at Rome, Ga. They will drive for the Georgia championship.

Judges will be Jim Isam, Sheriff Jake Hall and Julian S. Furstenburg. The started will be Bill Ogden.

NORTH GEORGIA TEAMS BATTLE

The season's championship of the North Georgia Golf league will be decided by a playoff of a tied match between Marietta and West End Golf Clubs, it was decided yesterday.

The match will be played at Marietta this afternoon and the annual league dinner will be held at the Marietta club tonight. Members from the other clubs in the league, Ansley Park, Forrest Hills, Ingleside, Chattahoochee and Sweetwater, who have played in league team matches are eligible to attend the dinner without charge, as well as the members of the teams of the clubs involved in the playoff.

Players from all clubs in the league are invited to Marietta to take part in a blind bogey sweepstakes tournament starting at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The players on the teams in the playoff match will keep cards to be counted in the blind bogey competition. Each entry in the sweepstakes will contribute 25 cents into the pot.

A handsome trophy will be presented to the winning club in the league and sterling tie clasps, engraved, will be awarded the members of the winning team as individual trophies.

The dinner will be provided by the ladies of the Marietta club, with President Max Pittard, vice president of the league, acting as host of the occasion. Various entertainment features will follow the dinner, at which O. B. Koeler, golf authority of the Journal, will act as toastmaster.

FEATURE BILL.

Tubby Walton's Firecrackers and the Grinnell company will be featured in a double-header Sunday afternoon at Ponce de Leon. The game will start at 2:15 o'clock. In the second game of the twin bill, the Buckhead 50 Club meets the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company nine.

SINGH TO MEET ORVILLE BROWN

Jagot Singh, the Hindu champion whose flowing mustache and formidable muscles have become popular in the Ponce de Leon wrestling ring, will appear next Wednesday night with Orville Brown as his opponent, according to announcement yesterday.

This match is one the fans have asked for, and Singh and Brown have made decided hits in their appearances here. The Hindu is undefeated.

The semi-windup is a match that will have them goggle-eyed. Roy (Father) Lumpkin, who is a bit eccentric in that ring himself, will meet Chet Chawki, the Indian whose pepper and salt and tricks-in-the-pants act have set him down as a definite daffodil.

The chief always leaves them laughing or raging, one of the two. And Lumpkin will be just as rugged.

In the opening bout, Weber has Lawrence Baxter, a big French Canadian, who has just returned from Buenos Aires, where he met and defeated, among others, Wislaski Zyzyzsko, the big Pole. Baxter weighs 220 and is rated as a real grapple.

He will meet Charley Strank, who has appeared here often.

The card includes six heavyweights, all of good reputation as to ability. Tickets are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters. The matches begin at 8:30 o'clock at the pall park.

With Gay Monarch a consistent performer at Arlington Park and Roubabout running well, the Schwartz entry is expected to rule the choice at 6 to 5.

LONG DARES DR. EVANS TO ENTER LOUISIANA

K. K. K. Wizard Warned to Stay Away; Hints at Death Threat.

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Replying to a threat of Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans, of the Ku Klux Klan, to take Klan action against him, Senator Huey P. Long today "dared" the wizard to come into this state.

"If he tries it, he won't light a foot in Louisiana. If he does, he will leave both feet right here, with the toes turned up," said the senator.

Senator Long at first declined to comment on the Evans challenge and then changed his mind, dictating what he described as "a formal statement," bristling with unprintable descriptions of Evans.

"Take down this formal statement," he said to a reporter: "Evans won't come within 10 miles of me. And if he does come into this state, he won't light a foot in Louisiana, and if he does, he will leave both feet right here, with the toes turned up."

Reaching into his coat pocket, the senator withdrew and waved about a long typewritten letter on K. K. K. stationery.

"I have here a letter which this Evans recently wrote to a friend of mine trying to get his organization started up again in this state. He says in it that he is trying to enlist members at $5 a head, and goes on to outline a schedule of rates for 'killing' Long added.

"It says here where you can be a knave for $5, which would give you authority to go out and collect $10 from everybody else."

"He's offering 'killing' jobs in Louisiana on a strictly commission basis."

"That's the dope on Mr. Evans."

KU KLUX KLAN ATTACKED BY CHATTANOOGA GROUP

An attack by the Ku Klux Klan here Friday on Huey Long was made public almost simultaneously with an attack on the Klan by George W. Christians, commander in chief of the "Crusader White Shirts."

The crusader of the Klan is a white robe, but the two organizations are in apparent conflict.

At Baton Rouge Senator Long spluttered and used incoherent invectives when asked to comment on the Klan attack.

Virtually dormant since its debacle from the political heights of ten years ago, the Klan, through its imperial wizard, Hiram W. Evans, announced that it had sounded a "bugle call" to remove Senator Long from power and to retire him. The announcement said the work would be left to the Louisiana Klan.

George W. Christians from his headquarters in Chattanooga made public a letter to the imperial wizard saying that he had noticed that the Klan had dropped the racial and religious issues to "actively fight for Americans against communism and alien radicals."

Shown a statement made by Senator Long in Baton Rouge which he said Dr. Evans went to Louisiana he would remain there "with the toes turned up" and that Evans had attended a Klan meeting in Shreveport in 1924 only to be "nearly thrown out of his own organization" by Long, Dr. Evans said:

"Recalling the personal courage of Senator Huey P. Long as amazingly demonstrated in an occurrence on Long Island in New York, the imperial wizard fears to meet him in open conflict with his weapons in Louisiana."

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE
NOTES ACCIDENT GAIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A 100 per cent increase in traffic accident fatalities here during the first six months of 1934 was noted today by the Anti-Saloon League.

"While the fact of traffic fatalities is indisputable, there is no agreement as to the cause," Laura Lindley, league research secretary said in a statement.

"It is significant, however, that this increase coincides with repeal, and that the arrests for driving while intoxicated increased from 112 to 164, 47.3 per cent in the first six months of 1934, as compared with the same period of 1933."

Dionne Quintuplets Soon Will Be Insured

CALLANDEB, Ont., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Insurance may be taken out soon on the lives of the famous Dionne Quintuplets, it was learned today. The five little sisters today were 31 days old.

As early as three days after the birth of the babies, there were a number of applications from insurance companies offering to insure the children at attractive rates. The matter has been investigated thoroughly lately, it was understood, and it was expected policies will be drafted soon.

Annette graduated into the "heavyweight" class today by gaining two ounces to reach the six-pound mark for the first time. All the little sisters gained today for an aggregate increase of 8 1/2 ounces, topped by Yvonne's gain of 2 3/4 ounces.

Anna Antonio's Son 'Kidnaped' by Uncle

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Aug. 17.—(UP)—Three-year-old Frankie Antonio, son of Mrs. Anna Antonio who was electrocuted for the insurance slaying of her husband, was "kidnaped" today by his uncle, Pasquale Cappello, after he refused to surrender the child to court-appointed guardians.

A kidnap warrant for Cappello's arrest was issued shortly after his disappearance with the child was reported. Chief of Police William H. Funston said. A general alarm was spread over police teletype wires.

Highways, railroad stations and airports were ordered to be guarded closely.

Cappello, brother of Mrs. Antonio, reportedly refused to accept a court order shortly before for release of the child to Mrs. Mary Disisto, New York city, sister of Salvatore Antonio, the slain man.

TALMADGE ASKS LABOR SUPPORT

Statement by Governor Points to Aid Rendered to Union Workers.

Governor Eugene Talmadge Friday issued an appeal to members of organized labor to stand by him despite the attacks on him by leaders of the executive committee of the Georgia Federation of Labor. The appeal was published in the Journal of Labor, official organ of the federation.

In it the governor recounted the things he has done toward helping organized labor and predicted that a majority of union workers would vote for him on September 12.

The statement of the governor to the workers follows:

"To My Friends of Organized Labor:

"My record for organized labor is an open book. My wife has an O. R. T. card in her trunk. She was the telegraph operator and depot agent at Ailey when we were married.

"When I was commissioner of agriculture I hired members of organized labor on the labor that required their trained skill. I appointed Steve Nance on the CWA committee last year to help distribute relief funds in Georgia. I did this because he was head of the Atlanta Federation of Trades.

"I entertained the petition filed with me by organized labor to suspend the public service commission of Georgia. I appointed Ben Hulet as one of the five public service commissioners because I wanted a representative of labor there, and he was endorsed to me by the labor organization of the state.

"I refused to call out the troops at the strike at Augusta, Ga., although I was petitioned by the executives of the mills to do so. Senator William Lester, representing labor in Augusta, called me up at 1 o'clock one night, and advised me it was not necessary to call out the troops. His advice was correct.

"I refused to call out the troops this spring at Rome, Ga., when there was a strike at the stove works there. I was requested to do so by the judge of the superior court, the sheriff, and the chief of police of Rome, and also by the executive of the stove works.

"Instead of calling out the troops, I sent Mr. A. Steve Nance and Mr. Lindley Camp to Rome to look over the situation, and come back and report to me. I instructed Lindley Camp not to wear his uniform, but to go as a private citizen. On the report brought back by Mr. Nance and Mr. Camp, no troops were called out.

"The only point of difference between Mr. A. Steve Nance, Mr. J. Sid Tiller, and the other gentlemen who called on me is that I would not have the highway department of Georgia set 40 cents per hour as a minimum wage scale for common labor working on the highways in this state.

"I asked them particularly what other difference they had with me. They said none.

"The highway department does not have the legal authority to set any wage scale.

His 40-Cent Minimum.

"You are not in favor of the tax money of Georgia being paid out on a 40-cent per hour minimum wage scale for common labor.

"You are not in favor of a minimum of 40 cents per hour for them when the white women and white men in this state, working in textile mills, making dresses, working in restaurants, telephone operators and a great many other lines of work, make no such wages.

"No prices for skilled labor are involved in this controversy.

"The absurd accusation falsely said of me that I was in favor of 5 cents per hour for the laboring man is a plain misstatement of the facts.

"I am not mad with some of the representatives of organized labor who have seen fit to misrepresent facts about me. I am not going to get mud with organized labor. They are my friends and I am their friend, and a majority of them are going to vote for me on election day.

"Sincerely,
"EUGENE TALMADGE."

ROBERT RAMSPECK IS GIVEN BANQUET BY LABOR GROUPS

Appreciation for the services of Congressman Robert Ramspeck, of the fifth Georgia district, was expressed Friday night at a testimonial dinner held at the Piedmont hotel under the joint auspices of the Atlanta Federation of Trades and the railroad brotherhoods.

About 150 officers of various unions and crafts attended and A. Steve Nance, president of the Federation of Trades, presided and acted as toastmaster.

Ramspeck spoke, pledging continued co-operation in seeking legislation covering unemployment and old age security.

Among those who spoke and who lauded Ramspeck were Miss Allie Mann, president of the Georgia Education Association; W. C. Campbell, secretary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; J. A. Harper, vice president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades; L. W. Flowers, legislative representative of the trainmen; J. A. King, of the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen; Charles B. Gramling, chairman of the board of trustees of the Atlanta Federation of Trades; Recorder John L. Cone, of the second division, and Professor Ralph L. Ramsey, principal of Fulton High school and labor's candidate for the legislature from Fulton county.

FLORIDANS' CHILD WINS STARDOM AT HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The story of 7-year-old David Holt's rapid rise to screen prominence is a compelling true-life scenario that may yet be transferred to the celluloid.

Only a year ago David's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Holt, came to Hollywood from Jacksonville, Fla., where the wife, firmly believing her son would become a movie star, persuaded her husband to give up his job.

Mrs. Holt said they had less than $22 when they arrived here. The chance of David crashing the movie studios were not better than one in a million.

The mother persevered, and the chance came. A boy was needed for the picture "You Belong To Me," starring Lee Tracy and Helen Mack. Scores of youngsters were tested.

David passed the tests. Finally Director Al Werker selected Dickie Moore. Then a few days before the picture was to begin production, Dickie became seriously ill. With no time for further tests, Werker chose David Holt.

He stole the picture. He has just signed a seven-year contract with the studio on a sliding scale basis starting at $150 weekly.

Konrad BERCOVICI
pens a tale about "The Duchess of Florence", a beautiful and powerful woman to be seen in
"The Affairs of Cellini"

How dare you ask ten thousands of ducats for your Perseus?" the Prince of Florence raged. "Cities and great palaces are built with ten thousand ducats."

"Your excellency," I rejoined, "can find multitudes of men who are able to build you cities and palaces, but you will not find one man in the world who could make a second Perseus."

Michael Angelo, his master, was still alive and working when Cellini said this. And yet Benvenuto was not bragging. No man could have made a second statue of "Perseus and the Head of the Medusa." No man has or ever will create anything as perfect as the Perseus wrought by the hands of that Firebrand.

Benvenuto Cellini's dagger was in his teeth when his hands were busy with chisel and hammer. As an artist he was the most mature man that ever lived. As a man he remained a child to the end of his days. He killed his enemies not because he was a criminal, but because his childish mind could conceive no better way of disposing of those who interfered with his work or his plans.

To him life was work. And he knew the value of his work and was conscious to the fullest extent of the great talent, the genius, that he possessed. Most of the great artists of that period, Michael Angelo, Leonardo da Vinci and Rafael, did not hide their lights under bushels. But when someone crossed Cellini's path he drew the dagger. Blood flowed. When he was lucky a powerful friend, a cardinal or a prince interceded for him. But there were occasions when even the most influential personages found it difficult not to give him up to the hangman. Yet even while in jail, in the shadow of the gallows, he planned and worked during every one of his wakeful hours.

His reputation as a ruffian equalled his reputation as an artist. He talked as much of his ability with the dagger as of his ability with the chisel. Indeed, he firmly believed that

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.
A story of a meteor which passed close overhead is told in a letter from a reader:

"Dear Uncle Ray:

"I am a normal school student and expect to teach school some day. I enjoy the corner—it seems like a 'surprise box.'"

"Because you enjoy hearing of the adventures of people, I should like to tell you one of mine. It happened when I was about 10 years old and was living in a village a few miles east of the Mississippi river. I was walking along near my home one evening when suddenly a deafening noise startled me, and everything was bright as day."

"I looked upward and to my amazement found that the sky was a mass of red sparks and fire. I was that that perhaps the world was coming to an end!"

"Many of my neighbors were exclaiming about this unusual spectacle. The sky remained red for a long time. The noise I heard was like that of a giant rocket, or like an immense amount of steam being released."

"The next day we read about this meteor in the newspapers. It had fallen in a farmer's field, on the other side of the Mississippi, about 20 miles from my home, and had buried itself deep in the ground. When pieces were dug up, they were found to be of rocky substance and looked like big cinders."

"I think I shall never forget that night, and I am glad that I saw the meteor even if it did frighten me almost to death."

"Wishing you every success with the corner, I am, sincerely yours,

"FRANCES BRYAN."

I am glad the meteor landed in a field, and not in Miss Bryan's village! It is not a common thing for people to see a meteor at such close range, though there are other cases on record. Sometimes meteors of this kind are called "fire-balls."

A famous meteor, or fireball, shot across Europe in 1783, and was seen at a height of about 50 miles. It had an estimated speed of 30 miles per second, meaning that it must have gone quickly out of sight, except for the fiery "trail."

Notice that I said "trail" not "tail." Comets have tails, but meteors do not. Some meteors are composed of rocky substance on the order of what comes out volcanoes. Most of them contain iron; and other metals—such as copper, nickel and tin—are likely to be mixed with the iron."

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(AP)—

Speculative markets remained in a rut today, but bonds forced ahead vigorously on a recovery for the fourth consecutive day.

Movements in the share market were mixed, with the main drift toward slightly lower levels.

Speculation marked time while traders waited for an incentive to renewal of activity and some definite indication of autumn business prospects.

Transfers of stocks decreased to 447,039 shares, the smallest for a full session since July 9, compared with 610,120 yesterday. The Standard Statistics Company average for 90 stocks dipped four-tenths of a point to 71.9.

While heavy trading in the market, most actively traded commodities moved lower and discouraged buying of the recently popular commodity shares. Corn advanced 1/8 cent to 35 1/2 cents a bushel and more than 3 cents a bushel and depressed wheat. The leading cereal was off 1/8 to 1/2 cent higher at the finish. Cotton lost 90 cents to $1.05 a bale.

Individual issues contributed a few sizeable gains to the share list. Fertilizer stocks were the most favorable earnings report turned in by American agricultural chemical and belief that the crop situation would encourage relatively active buying of fertilizers by farmers. American agricultural chemical expanded its previous gains by more than 2 points, rising to a new high of 28 1/2.

Virginia Carolina Chemical $7 preferred spurted 10 points on small transactions. International Agricultural rose 5 points.

There was more scattered buying of Building and Allied shares on hopes the government's home renovation program would succeed in expanding the demand for building materials. DuPont and Raychem, A. United States Gypsum and Congoleum were firm. National Lead was bid up 3-4 points on a transfer.

Losses of fractions to 3 points were recorded for Allied Chemical, American Can, American Telephone, Santa Fe, DuPont, General Electric, General Motors, International Paper, and other prominent issues.

The Dun & Bradstreet weekly trade review reported gains in retail trade and improvement in business sentiment was evident in the industrial operations.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(UP)—

Selective trading about all that is left in the current stock market.

Board rooms in brokerage offices today were almost deserted as only a few shares of stock were traded.

The floor of the stock exchange, the market was almost meaningless. Prices drifted irregularly lower with some breaks in the last hour in individual issues.

The selectivity of the current situation was shown by:

Buying during the week in individual issues, few except building shares, one day, traction for two days, and fertilizer shares in the last two days.

Brokers reported shopping expeditions as investors seek stocks of companies which have a likelihood of taking dividend action in the next fortnight or so.

Some interesting and careful buying in the railroad groups, of the bond market, particularly those which have been holding up in the recent period of reduced railroad operations.

There is a general feeling that there is no time in several weeks, one trader reported tonight. "It proves, somewhat, that there is an investment demand but the shopping is not so carefully done that no market stimulus is being given."

The talk in Wall Street still continues to be on an "after labor day" basis. Few expect a recovery to happen the rest of this month. There is no indication of a general return of big operators and some are planning to invest themselves in the market until the fall.

The heaviness in the final hour today, when the greatest volume was run up as prices dropped to the level of the day's trading, was not unexpected. The volume was so light and the situation was without definiteness that the heaviest trading was meaningless.

TODAY'S INFLUENCES.

Various factors confronting traders for tomorrow include none that is really outstanding. These points are:

Loadings for the week showed a drop of about 8,000 tons against a forecast of 10,000 tons. The volume of loadings would be about the same as the preceding week. Most of the loss came from the roads which connect the eastern industrial regions.

Hog prices continue to soar, leading to some interest in the packing shares. Few expect a recovery to happen the rest of this month. There is no indication of a general return of big operators and some are planning to invest themselves in the market until the fall.

Some indication of increased foreign buying in the American steel market. (Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

DECREASE IS SHOWN IN FREIGHT LOADINGS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The American Railway Association announced today that loadings of revenue freight for the week ended August 17 were 602,538 cars, a decrease of 1,000 cars from the preceding week.

Under the corresponding week in 1933, and an increase of 90,065 above the corresponding week in 1932.

Transfers aggregated $8,450,000 par value compared with $9,371,000 on Thursday...

Additional advances of one to two points in the lower priced loans embraced some issues of the Allegheny Co., Boston & Maine, Rock Island, Hudson & Manhattan, Interborough Rapid Transit, Otis Steel, Utah Light & Traction and Washburn Railroad.

Other loans advancing around a point or more included some obligations of American Telephone, Light & Power, Southern Railway, Bell Telephone, Union Pacific, and Southern Pacific.

Government obligations had easy trading with some issues gaining as much as 3-32nds. There was some irregularity in home owners loan bonds in midday trading but investment demand caught up the slack before the close and the close and both issues finished steady. Federal farm mortgage loans were slightly higher. Liberty 3-1/2s were about 1-8 lower at 103.15 but the turnover was small.

A feature of the market was the strong demand for South American bonds, influenced, it was stated, by completion of an agreement on the service of Dominican Republic bonds. Higher prices were paid for bonds of Argentina, Chile, Brazil, Colombia and Uruguay. French 7s were 2-1/8 higher at 188-1/2.

Government obligations had easy trading with some issues gaining as much as 3-32nds. There was some irregularity in home owners loan bonds in midday trading but investment demand caught up the slack before the close and the close and both issues finished steady. Federal farm mortgage loans were slightly higher. Liberty 3-1/2s were about 1-8 lower at 103.15 but the turnover was small.

A feature of the market was the strong demand for South American bonds, influenced, it was stated, by completion of an agreement on the service of Dominican Republic bonds. Higher prices were paid for bonds of Argentina, Chile, Brazil, Colombia and Uruguay. French 7s were 2-1/8 higher at 188-1/2.

CORN PRICES

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The world at large tomorrow will probably be just another Sunday; but to the merry entrants in The Constitution's $1,800 Sayings game it will be a veritable letter day—$22.00 at the publication of picture No. 80—the last of the series. On Sunday, Sayings followers may begin to trade most appropriate solutions for 35 prizes totaling $1,800.

The Sayings editor takes this opportunity to urge contestants to be leisurely about submitting their sets. There's no special reason or need for turning them in before the final deadline, midnight, Saturday, September 1. The days that intervene between the appearance of picture No. 80 and the deadline may be profitably devoted to rechecking solutions—or to making up extra sets, which is permitted. Duplicate pictures and answer-blanks, which has all of the most appropriate solutions, will be kept on hand until the last hour of the contest. The full series of 80 pictures now available, may be had for $2. An extra 3 cents for postage must accompany orders for pictures by mail, or any contestant who desires may send 21 cents for getting pictures to save time in setting pictures.

An extreme fall of nearly 4 cents a bushel in corn was witnessed, and many stop-loss orders were forced into execution. Pit observers said that an apparently antagonistic attitude of Washington officials toward speculative operations had a decided tendency to restrain active buying power.

Corn closed nervous, 1-1/2 to 3-4 under yesterday's finish, wheat irregular at 1-1/2 to 1-3/4 off, and provisions varying from 10 cents loss to a gain of 5 cents.

Contributing to acute weakness of the corn market was an authoritative summary showing August rainfall in the corn belt had averaged 14.1 per cent of normal, the worst so far on the crop. An additional bearish influence was an official forecast suggesting further widespread moisture might be received tonight.

Offerings of corn to arrive were curtailed by the sharp downturn of prices, but shipping inquiry here for corn to go east broadened out considerably.

Wheat and oats prices gave way with corn. Uncertainty over Washington administration crop plans and about the processing influence of wheat selling, and so too did reports of general rains relieving drought conditions in Australia and Argentina.

On the other hand, transit rallies were promoted by trade assertions that there was no price inflation in a market where as in the case of wheat the utmost selling pressure was being discounted under cash property. Much notice, too, was taken that the Minneapolis wheat market continued to display relative strength compared with Chicago, and at one stage went up to 1-1/2 cents over Chicago September, the widest difference this season.

A peculiar feature of today's grain trading was that barley bucked the general downward trend, and sold at a new high price record for the season, 1-1/2 to 1-3/4 off, a good price, the choicest grade of hard winter wheat in the Chicago market.

Scarcity of barley in the central west was reported as causing a rise in price of late from Oregon and California.

NARROW-MOUTHED TOADS.

The last of the local frogs to appear is the narrow-mouthed toad, a quaint chap that appears to be shrinking from contact with this terrible world, for his forelegs are always in a position of backing away. His entire demeanor is one of retiring, self-effacing modesty. This carries over into his habits, for he is the most difficult of our species to find. To be perfectly frank, I have found only four myself around Atlanta.

I am guilty of a misstatement in the preceding paragraph, for there is one frog that probably is in this region, but which I have never found. I refer to the spadefoot toad.

The little narrow-mouth, however, is known from this section, and one time I have heard their calls in this region. I have heard them at Brunswick in a rain-marsh behind the Ogilvie hotel, and have suffered the onslaughts of thousands of mosquitoes there trying to locate them. Trying is a good word, for the railroad passes the edge of the marsh and at the time the frogs are calling the train is getting steam up for the run to Jacksonville, so that it is almost impossible to single out a call and go get the animal.

The color pattern of the narrow-mouth toad is not striking. There is a reddish brown triangle down the back, roughly outlined in deep brown stripes. The sides are darker brown than the warm tan of the back. The underside is mottled gray. The entire body is roughly triangular in shape, like a slightly inflated, three-sided balloon.

Professor Wright gives the breeding dates as from May 1 to September 1. There is a chance that the dates extend somewhat beyond September 1, but I have no actual observations to back up that hunch. However, Wright was probably studying the narrow-mouthed toads when I was trying to make out the outlines of a toad in my crib. Who am I to have hunches?

If you want to find the narrow-mouthed toad, I would advise you to be tireless in turning over logs. I would urge that you dig ditches in moist places, and that you think nothing of digging about under a haystack. The inevitable result about that hayrack feature and the needle inevitably comes to mind with the idea of looking for one of these one-inch frogs under a haystack. Do all this, and you may happen upon one each year.

Conferees through which Wallace and officials of the sugar division of the agriculture adjustment administration hoped to dissuade the association, were held just before the suit was filed.

CLUB FOR PITTMAN FORMED IN DEKALB

Organization of the DeKalb County Pittman-for-Governor Club was perfected Friday night at a rally at the courthouse in Decatur attended by a crowd of about 500 persons.

Officers of the club, elected upon recommendation of W. H. McWhorter, chairman, were: President, Judge John S. Candler; Vice President, Myrick Clements; Mrs. W. R. Simpson; Secretary, R. R. Tisdale; Treasurer, Mrs. Boyd Quares; J. Howell Green; Sam D. Johnson; W. P. Humphreys; and Mrs. W. O. Welch. J. P. Anthony was elected secretary and Mrs. J. A. McCarty was elected treasurer.

The president was given authority to name the executive committee.

Recognized wheel-horses of Judge Claude C. Pittman's campaign forces, led by William Schley Howard, well-known Atlanta lawyer, unleashed verbal tirades at Governor Eugene Talmadge's record, his campaign, his followers and his management of the affairs of the state.

Mr. Howard dwelt at considerable length on what he termed "Talmadge's henchmen," and stated that the governor had been "discredited, dishonored, racketeers than all other Georgia governors put together."

Charging that Governor Talmadge had "noting to do with the reduction of electric rates in Georgia," Mr. Howard read from what he said was a copy of the contract between the TVA and the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation establishing public utility rates in Georgia. He said the contract was consummated January 4, 1934, which he said was before the governor had launched his campaign for the reduction of electric rates in Georgia.

John A. Boykin, solicitor-general of the state, said he had entered the campaign against Governor Talmadge because "he has attempted to disregard and will not recognize the superiority of the civil court over military rule." He said that he had been drawn into the campaign because "Governor Talmadge has not acknowledged the distinct separation between the three branches of government, the judicial, the executive and legislative, but wants to be a dictator and rapidly is assuming that role."

An appeal to DeKalb county's 11,023 qualified voters to turn out and vote, and at least 10,000 of them in the Pittman column, was voiced by Mrs. C. R. Stauffer, who later was elected a vice president of the club.

A scathing attack on Governor Talmadge was voiced by H. J. Kennedy, of Barnesville, who several weeks ago drew a cry of protest from the American Legion for utterances he made at a Pittman meeting.

Judge Candler, Solicitor-General John Mitchell, of the Cherokee judicial circuit; Hamilton McWhorter, president of the state senate; Scott Turner, former mayor of Decatur, scheduled to speak on the program, did not appear.

GOODYEAR SERVICE, INCORPORATED

Let's Get the Record Straight!

Goodyear Pathfinder Tires at "Floor Level" Prices Cost You Less Than Other Tires at So-Called "Preferred Wholesale" Prices!

Why? The reason is simple. Floor level prices are the absolute rock-bottom established by the Government under the retail tire code. In other words, Goodyear or its dealers are not permitted to sell any lower.

Any change in the price of Goodyear Pathfinders is bound to be upward. We urge you to buy now.

Why Don't We Advertise 4 Tires for the Price of 3?

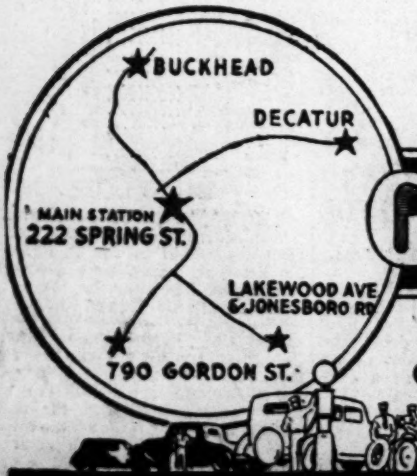

It is strictly against the policy of Goodyear, or of Goodyear Service, Incorporated, to make claims that might mislead. If you want to buy four Goodyears for the list price of three—why, bless you, come in and help yourself! . . . But our offer is far better than that. We say: Buy one Pathfinder, or several sets, and get absolute rock-bottom, floor level prices (not customary list) on whatever you buy!

Utilize our NO MONEY DOWN PLAN, if you prefer, with weekly payments to suit you. Present reductions apply to all tires in the Goodyear line, not merely to one or two numbers, or to certain restricted sizes. And every tire is backed by the double guarantee of the world's largest manufacturer of tires.
